Now Seeking Community Support via Kickstarter, Embracing Calmness is an All-New Self-Help Book by Dr. Jennifer Dustow!

Lanai City, HI -- (SBWire) -- 05/28/2019 --Embracing Calmness is a proven and effective self-help book, backed by published research that creates calmness for autistic children. The book is written by Dr. Jennifer Dustow, and she has written this book as an autism handbook for parents and teachers. Moreover, Dr. Jennifer Dustow has recently launched a crowdfunding campaign on Kickstarter to raise funds and support for the book, and she is welcoming generous backing from around the world.

This new book for Autism, by Dr. Jennifer Dustow also teaches the "H.A.P.P.Y Exercise System," which is a simple, effective, proven way to manage behaviors, by activating and stimulating brain functions that promote readiness to learn. One in every 40 children are the victims of autism and this book will play a great role in raising awareness regarding this problem at a global level.

"Every $25 donation received in this campaign will help to put this important book in the hands of a parent or teacher ready to use this simple, effective science to provide an improved learning environment for educating every child, preparing them for blessings to us all, yet to be realized." Said Dr. Jennifer Dustow, while introducing her new book to the Kickstarter community. Being a gifted professional and industry expert, she holds a doctorate in Educational Leadership, and is also a Cognitive Behavioral Learning Specialist.

In addition, Embracing Calmness is backed by published research that creates calmness. Moreover, this remarkable book is the outcome from that research along with several years of creating behavioral programs that have redirected and reduced misunderstood behaviors. With years of experience and her problem solving approach, the author has helped families, organizations, and companies, and she now aims to help the masses with this new book.

The Kickstarter Campaign is located on the web at:
